

Creating a COVID-19 journal

The Bridgeport History Center is working to create a collection that shines a light on how the residents of Bridgeport responded to COVID-19. We're asking you, the public, to consider creating a journal that documents your experience in this extraordinary moment. If you are under quarantine or self isolation, we also hope this might relieve some boredom.

Ready to make history? Here's what to do!

1. Pick a format!

Paper and pen? Word doc? Video diary?

We'll take them all!

2. Start with an intro!

In your first entry, tell us a little bit about yourself.

3. Write!

Write about your experiences as a healthcare worker, an essential employee, or someone who's doing their part by self isolating.

4. Keep going!

Try and write something every day if you can!

5. Donate!

Get in touch with the archivists at BHC about a donation.
Go to: bportlibrary.org/hc/contact-form

Got questions? Hit us up: www.bportlibrary.org/hc/contact-form/